As you make your way through 27 levels of shattering horror... that's right, 27... some picture insignias will appear out of nowhere. Pick them up and they will appear in one office squares at the bottom of the screen.

Each of these insignias will enhance you and your shockrum's abilities. The star extends the string on your weapon, whereas the castle gives the shockrum sharper blades, and there's one of a tiger that destroys the baddies as soon as you touch them. I haven't seen the other pictures yet.

Finally, when you finish a level, the amount of legions killed, warrior ranking, and time remaining will be added to your score. You get a free man at 200,000 points.

See you next month, gamers!

GAME: RYGAR

YEAR: TECHNO 1986

RANK: ★★★★★

When the Imperial Arcade on Bank & Gilmour existed 30 years ago, I saw at least 6 RYGAR machines scattered around the premises. It might be a safe bet to say that the owners of the Imperial had a lot of time on their hands.

Created by TECHNO, RYGAR is celebrating Birthday No. 33. The actual full name is Rygar, Legendary Warrior. The graphics here are well drawn, with a little violence thrown in. The garner controls a barbarian warrior bent on taking down a dominator and its legions. The barbarian wields an interesting weapon... a razor sharpened shockrum on a stretchable string that will cut his enemies to ribbons. The player has to be careful because the baddies are everywhere. They can be underground, above ground and in the air. You can use the shockrum in a spin-O-rama move to nullify the aerial attack. Rygar can even jump on his enemies, stunning them in the process and making them

SEGA
PINBALL-INC.

RELEASED IN 1997 BY SEGA, THE LOST WORLD : JURASSIC PARK IS THE FOLLOW UP TO THE DATA EAST COMPANYS JURASSIC PARK PINBALL WHICH WAS RELEASED IN 1993. NOT TO BE CONFUSED WITH BALLY'S LOST WORLD (1978) OR STERNS NEW JURASSIC PARK JUST RELEASED THIS YEAR. THIS PIN FEATURES A DISTINCTIVE CURVED BACKBOX WHICH SEGA DUBBED THE SHOWCASE, WITH MARKETING EXECS CLAIMING THIS GIVES "A FRESH NEW LOOK THAT WILL ATTRACT PLAYERS BACK TO PINBALL!!!"

The designer of the game was John Borg, co-designer of the original Data East JP, whose resume features some heavy hitters including Tales From The Crypt, Iron Man, TRON, Metallica, The Walking Dead, and many more.

In this month's lesson I'll be going over the game's main multiball mode. Armed with this knowledge, maybe YOU could reach the winner's podium at the next House of TARG Monthly Pinball Tournament?!

MULTIBALL MODE

- Multiball is first started by repeatedly hitting the drop target to light all three locks.
- If you don't finish the drop target shots, one lock will be spotted for you each ball until you complete the drop target sequence or light all three locks.
- Lock three balls by hitting the lit LOCK shots at the left loop, right loop, and middle loop which then starts a 4-ball multiball.
- Ramps are lit for Jackpots which unlight when collected.
- When both ramps are collected, both loops light for Jackpots which unlight when collected.
- When both loop Jackpots have been collected, the middle loop lights for Super Jackpot.
- Once the Super is collected, multiball starts back at stage one with the lit ramps.

SMART MISSILE

- Collect the Smart Missile awarded from the Egg scoop.
- Smart Missile only pertains to multiball – activate it using the LAUNCH button.
- If the locks aren't lit, Smart Missile will light all locks (1st Multiball).
- If all locks are lit, Smart Missile will start multiball.
- During multiball, Smart Missile will collect any lit Jackpots.

BECOME THE DINOSAUR

To rack up some skill shot points you will need to use your reptilian brain: focus on the video display and time your ball launch so that the giant T-REX foot is directly over a HUMAN... then push the ball launch button to squash that mother. No points are awarded if you harm a fellow prehistoric beast.

MONOBROW THE NACARAT

Trill or be Thrilled records
Recorded/mixed by Mike Bond at Wolf Lake Studios. Produced by Mike Bond and Monobrow

(Hey! This is my thirteenth column for the TARG zine, hard to believe it's been over a year since I started this super fun side gig! Big thanks to all the wizards for building this great community around music, games, art, and food, and for being all-around amazing people.)

Monobrow are an instrumental trio from Ottawa formed in 2009. The Nacarat is their fourth full length release, released in Spring 2017. The guys in the band are Brian Ahopelto on drums, Sam Bedyoun on bass, and Paul Slater on guitar, and this album features some guest synthesizer work by Shane Whitbread.

These guys are tough to pin down, as instrumental outfits can sometimes be. Enjoy some 60s/70s psych? You got it. More into doom or stoner rock? No problem, it's here. Fancy some heavy unison metal riffage? Coming right up. Need a dose of progressive rock? Well, here's some now. The songs can be on the longer side, but they shift and change enough to keep your attention. They are complex but approachable, with solid playing and surprisingly melodic lead guitar lines (never thought I'd say anything nice about this effect, but I enjoy Slater's restrained use of the wah-wah pedal here). In one composition, you can find yourself drifting away on a gentle trance progression, then jolted back to reality with a left turn into head-banging heaviness.

This is a five song concept album, with and undercurrent of societal upheaval as hinted in song titles such as "The First Vague Rumbles Of Impending Revolution", "We Can Make It Look Like An Accident" and "The Decline Of The West And Other Small Tragedies". In addition, there are "words" included for the songs in the liner notes, written by Ryan Kjrr, who you may know from bands like Uncooperatives and Phantom Shifters. These words aren't sung, but are asset of companion poems to the musical journey, and help add to the feel or concept of the album as a whole.

In all, this was an ambitious project for the band and they executed it well. It sounds great on vinyl (my copy is a sweet orange/cream swirl pressing) and should still be fairly easy to find around town. In fact, if you happen to come across any of Monobrow's albums, they are definitely worth picking up. The band is still active, and plays live fairly frequently so keep your eyes and ears open!

Larry is one of the owners of Meow! That's Hot Kitchen + Bar at 519 Bank St., where they feature local products and spin Canadian vinyl all day, every day. He also performs bass duties with local hardcore heroes Slim and Popular, and rockers Thunderuncle.

WICKED SHOWS ALERT

CALLING ALL WIZARDS
Did you know we have friendly pinball tournaments every month? All Ages and All Skill Levels are Welcome. Win prizes & IPFA World Pinball Player Ranking points! Register before 8pm.

CROSS DOG RECORD RELEASE
FOR NEW LP "HOLLOW"
PTBO's CROSS DOG have gained a cult following in the 613 for their unique feminist punk/metal/hardcore hybrid. Also performing MOKOMOKAI (Ptbo Metal) + BLACK GALAXY (Ott Heavy Metal). #MegaHeavy

ONE YEAR OF VJ JEFF THE TEMP
It's been a whole year since the not so temporary VJ Jeff The Temp started delighting us with 90's throwback vibes & music vids on the big screen. BIG SHINY 90s returns to perform all of your fave 90s Alt Rock classics live.

SURPIN' SCOTLAND U.K.?
You bet. Instrumental 80s surf rockers THE HEAD HENCHMEN visit TARG all the way from Edinburgh & will be joined by MTL Spaghetti Western outfit CAVALLO DIAVOLO & hometown surf/spy-fi heroes THE REVERB SYNDICATE.

GUARANTEED HEAVY
The only guarantees in life are death, taxes & MTL headbangers METALIAN putting on jaw-dropping display of Judas Priest inspired TRUE METAL when they perform live. Expect 2 sets from these metal maniacs + some wicked Quebec City Sludge Metal by special guests MARECAGES.

FREE-PLAY SUNDAY - BEST DAY
Every Sunday 8pm 19+ you can enjoy unlimited arcade action on all 40+ pinball & classic video game machines for just $6. DJ KJMAXX provides the soundtrack to your hi-score pursuits playing the best sleaze rock, metal & retro synth arcade jamz on on WAX.

AN INTERVIEW WITH

JENN JEFFERYS

OCCUPATION: INDEPENDENT WRITER AND JOURNALIST SPECIALIZING IN POP CULTURE, OTTAWA LIVE MUSIC, CANADIAN POLITICS AND CURRENT EVENTS

Jenn is an artist, writer, communications professional, and proud feminist. She is a regular contributor to Apt613 and Ottawa Showbox, and is regularly sought after for public affairs commentary by radio and podcast. Keep making waves by doing what you love and speaking your voice Jenn!

WHAT JOBS AND EXPERIENCES HAVE LED TO YOUR PRESENT POSITION(S)?

I'm a bit of a Jane of all trades (and master of none). I've worked everywhere. I had a brief stint working coat check at Barrymore's. Slinging empties and tall cans at Somerset Beer Store. Helping kids with permanent physical (dis)abilities learn how to kayak and swim at an Easter Seals Camp. Bartending. Babysitting. Stand up comedy. Live-tweeting. Briefing politicians before they go on TV. And a lot of freelance writing and communications stuff.

WHAT DOES A TYPICAL WORK DAY ENTAIL FOR YOU?

Reluctantly wake up and stumble over to my radio to turn on CBC Ottawa Morning (I hate mornings). Make a green tea and examine the dishes and laundry I probably neglected to do the night before. Bus or catch a Lyft to my office in Centretown. Do communications and writing stuff for the man with some very cool people in an office for 7.5 hours. Walk home.

Admire this stunningly beautiful city we live in and probably chat with a few tourists and strangers (I like offering to take pictures for people because I'm weird). And I take a lot of photographs. And sometimes watch the sunset near the locks beside Parliament.

TELL US ABOUT A PROJECT OR ACCOMPLISHMENT THAT YOU CONSIDER TO BE SIGNIFICANT IN YOUR CAREER.

Probably the coolest thing I ever had the privilege of doing at work happened when I was on the comms team at the Assembly of First Nations. I pitched a segment concept to the producers for This Hour Has 22 Minutes (on CBC television) then briefed both National Chief Bellegarde and comedian/host Mark Critch before a really funny and smart nationally-televised interview on the show. I'm a bit of a control freak, but working with my team at the AFN and the amazing cast and crew of 22 Minutes to make that segment happen was really awesome.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT WORKING IN YOUR INDUSTRY?

When I can go home at the end of a really long week and know that I made a difference. Even just a tiny one.

HOW DO YOU BEST SEEK OUT OPPORTUNITIES FOR NEW PROJECTS?

I'm pretty annoying and persistent. It's rare that I would give up on someone or something. When I want something, I go for it. F*ck that inner voice telling me I'm not good enough.

HOW DO YOU KEEP UP WITH THE LATEST NEWS IN YOUR LINE OF WORK?

I quite literally never stop consuming news. It's a problem. I live on Twitter. That being said, I do like to escape occasionally and do a little digital detox on random remote lakes in a kayak and just leave everything until tomorrow sometimes. I really don't do that often enough though. Unplugging as a journalist or communications professional these days is very difficult.

WHAT WOULD YOU TELL SOMEONE ABOUT TO START A CAREER IN YOUR FIELD?

Look for a really bad ass human person you want to emulate then somehow find that person and learn everything they are willing to teach you. Ottawa is fiercely competitive, nepotist and elitist. It sucks sometimes and it can take years to find a job that will actually feed your soul and feed your stomach. But eventually everything will fall into place. You just can't give up. And you have to work for it.

WHERE CAN WE FIND YOU ONLINE?

I'm on all the socials. Primarily Insta and Twitter (I'm too old for Snapchat). I will happily accept unsolicited memes and cat portraits from anyone. @jennjefferys

ABOUT THE INTERVIEWER:
Sheila is a TARG Perogi Wizard alumni & is involved in the local music scene as a promoter & aspiring sound tech.

THE HORROR OF WALT'S VAULT

When I was a kid, Disney re-releasing their animated classics for limited theatrical runs was a common practice. When I was 6, I saw Robin Hood...when I was 7, I saw The Sword in the Stone...when I was 10, I saw Lady and the Tramp...when I was 11, I saw The Aristocats..

In the mid-90s, the practice came to an end. Some cinephiles blamed the studio wanting to focus on video store sales, or that their plan was to save their titles to entice people to subscribe to their cable channels. They seemingly have never come out and officially explained the reasoning for their current business model.

Other studios have no issue with releasing their back catalog to cinemas like the Mayfair. For example - This year, we've screened retro selections such as: Rosemary's Baby (Paramount), Fast Times at Ridgemont High (Universal), and Beetlejuice (Warner Bros). Hence, it's clear that the theatrical vault rule is not a policy that other Hollywood studios partake in.

The recent behind-the-scenes twist saw Disney buying up various other properties and studios, expanding the already giant footprint they stomp onto entertainment ground. Pixar, Marvel, Lucasfilm, Muppets, and National Geographic are all now branches on the Disney family tree...their latest acquisition is 20th Century Fox.

Although official word hasn't been 100% announced as of yet, the looming thought is that Disney will lock away Fox titles from the big screen as they have with their films. Fox titles that we have hosted include amazing to see in a cinema movies such as Planet of the Apes, Young Frankenstein, and Alien. That would not be possible for us anymore.

All that we can report at the moment, is that we have been refused a request to screen the Fox classic, The Sound of Music. Sadly, it seems that will be the sign of things to come.

THE POTENTIAL OF THIS POLICY WILL REALLY BREAK OUR HEARTS TWOFOLD.

1 - NO MORE DIE HARD tradition for the Holiday Season. (Since, of course, it's the greatest Christmas film ever made).

as we screen it almost every month, and especially at Halloween. But, because if there was only one movie you could pick to see in a cinema with a crowd in your whole life...it should be The Rocky Horror

2 - NO MORE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW.

That one is a real staggering thought. Not just because we have great box office success

Picture Show (especially as hosted by our resident Absent Friends Shadow Cast).

SO WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD?

Fret not, you will have another chance to do the Time Warp again, on September 21st.

We have also taken the precaution of booking the dates for the rest of the year: October 25th, 26th, and 31st, plus November 23rd, and December 21st!

We also have Die Hard booked for a hopefully-not-final screening on December 23rd!

Sorry to be the bearer of bad news, but there is a chance that the rug could be pulled out from us at any time, so partake in The Rocky Horror Picture Show while you still can! ## BACK TO SCHOOL ADVICE

DEAR SLO' TOM: It's back to school time and I'm starting my first year at university! I'm super excited but I'm N E R V O U S !!! What if I flunk out? How do I make new friends? Please help me, Tom! You must have some good tips to make sure my post-secondary education is... second to none! Thanks! Signed, Back2skool

DEAR BACK2SKOOL: You've come to the right guy! I've been escorted off the property of both Carleton University AND Algonquin College so you can bet your slide rule I know a thing or two about having a scholastically good time. The first mistake a lot of freshmen make is to become too chummy with their profs! Make sure those smartass eggheads know that you're not going to take any of their shit. Secondly, don't miss any social activity... NO MATTER WHAT! Your first year is prime time to get some serious action, and you won't get that studying in the library with a bunch of nerds. Another big mistake many first year students make is keeping a schedule and getting lots of sleep. You've got the rest of your life for that stuff! Your university years are a time for staying up all night, sleeping all day, and soaking up as much booze, sex and LIFE as possible! Because don't forget... sooner or later those student loans are gonna come due! Good luck, Back2skool!

DEAR MR. SLO' TOM: I love my apartment. It's big and bright and in a great part of town. Plus, it's really affordable. My problem is that it's suddenly getting harder and harder to breath. The doors are hot to the touch and it's really smoky! There's a lot of noise outside, too – sirens and ambulances and fire trucks running back and forth. There's a lot of people yelling and screaming. Do you think I should move? Signed – QueezieWeezie

DEAR QUEEZIEWEEZIE: Don't make any rash decisions. An affordable apartment in a good location is a real score in this town! Can you make it to the sink? Wet a towel and tie it over your nose and mouth. Stay low. Lie on the floor and breathe slowly and evenly. If you get bored you might want to take a nap or something. Maybe fold some laundry if you can reach it. A bit of smoke and a little noise is a small price to pay for a great place to live. You may find it really tough to find another apartment you like! Good luck, QueezieWeezie

DEAR MR. SLO' TOM: I graduated from high school last year. I'm not really interested in going to college or university so I guess I have to get a job or something. My mom keeps bugging me to apply at The Source by Circuit City formerly Radio Shack (a division of Tandy Leather Goods). I don't really want to, but she won't shut up. I was thinking I could make a few bucks walking my neighbour's dog or maybe do some babysitting, you know? My mom says that I can't hide in her basement the rest of my life and that I better "get a job, toot sweet" or she'll kick me out! She wants me to pay rent, too! What am I gonna do, Tom? Signed – NOSchool NOjob

DEAR NOSCHOOL NOJOB: Looking for a job can be a real drag but you're in a good position and you've made some very smart first moves. You've got that awesome basement to hide in and you're living rent free. It doesn't get much better than that! You're wise to avoid furthering your education, because let's face it – school is for suckers. So here's what I suggest: First off, you've got to fool your mom into believing that you're serious about finding a job. Toss together a resume and leave it lying around somewhere she'll see it. Be careful not to make your resume look too good! You don't want to accidentally get a job, so make sure you put in some spelling mistakes and maybe the wrong phone number. The second thing you should do is take it easy! You've got it made! Parents have been threatening to kick their kids out of the house forever and they never, ever, ever do. So don't sweat it. Just walk that dog... deliver some flyers... whatever you've gotta do to make a couple bucks. And if you somehow do end up working at The Source by Circuit City formerly Radio Shack (a division of Tandy Leather Goods) tell them I say "hi" and that the radio control jeep they sold me is a piece of shit. Good luck, NOSchool NOjob

THE ROBOTS ARE COMING!!!

CAPTURED! BY ROBOTS

(San Francisco) is a touring grindcore band with only one human member. The music is all played physically by the 2 robots, GTRBOT666 and DRMBOT0110, and the human slave Jbot.

The C!BR backstory states that the human, in an attempt to make his own band, created the robots. Instead of following him, they revolted, and now force him to travel the world with them, performing music and making him contemplate the inferiority of the human race.

See CAPTURED! BY ROBOTS perform live at TARG on THURS OCT 3. #ShowofTheYear
