A HI-FIVE TO OTTAWA FROM TARG

Some years ago a group of friends got together and decided to bring the classic arcade experience back to our beloved city of Ottawa - we had music in our hearts, perogies on the brain and a dream that drove us to exceed our limitations. From humble beginnings at our Main Street warehouse/studio to our current basement location in Old Ottawa South, our existence is a testament to the strong support within our community and we are grateful to each and every one of you - the last 5 years has been absolutely bananas!!! Thanks Ottawa - we are super stoked for the adventure ahead and looking forward to serving you lose a life if you eat any poisonous food or run into an insect.

When you collect the letters throughout the labyrinth, only certain letters can be garnered on each stage, meaning you must wait until later stages to pick up the rest. When all the letters are in in your procession, the player will have spelled "EXTRA", meaning he (or she) can earn an extra life. The player can also spell the word "SPECIAL" to get a free game. But be careful! The letters change color as the stage progresses. All letters must be in the same color for the extra man or credit to be awarded. Also, once you pass through a revolving door, you can't go back through. It's one way only.

Finally, the stages of Ladybug are played out in the form of vegetables, like Cucumber, Lettuce, Radish, Celery and Tomato. There are others, but I'd have to play myself to see what they are.

See you next month, gamers!

GAME: LADYBUG
YEAR: UNIVERSAL 1981
RANK: ★★★★★

You don't hear much from Universal these days, although in the early 80's they are the software company that came out with the Mr. Do series (1982). But before that, there was Ladybug, a labyrinth computer maze game played almost like Pac-Man.

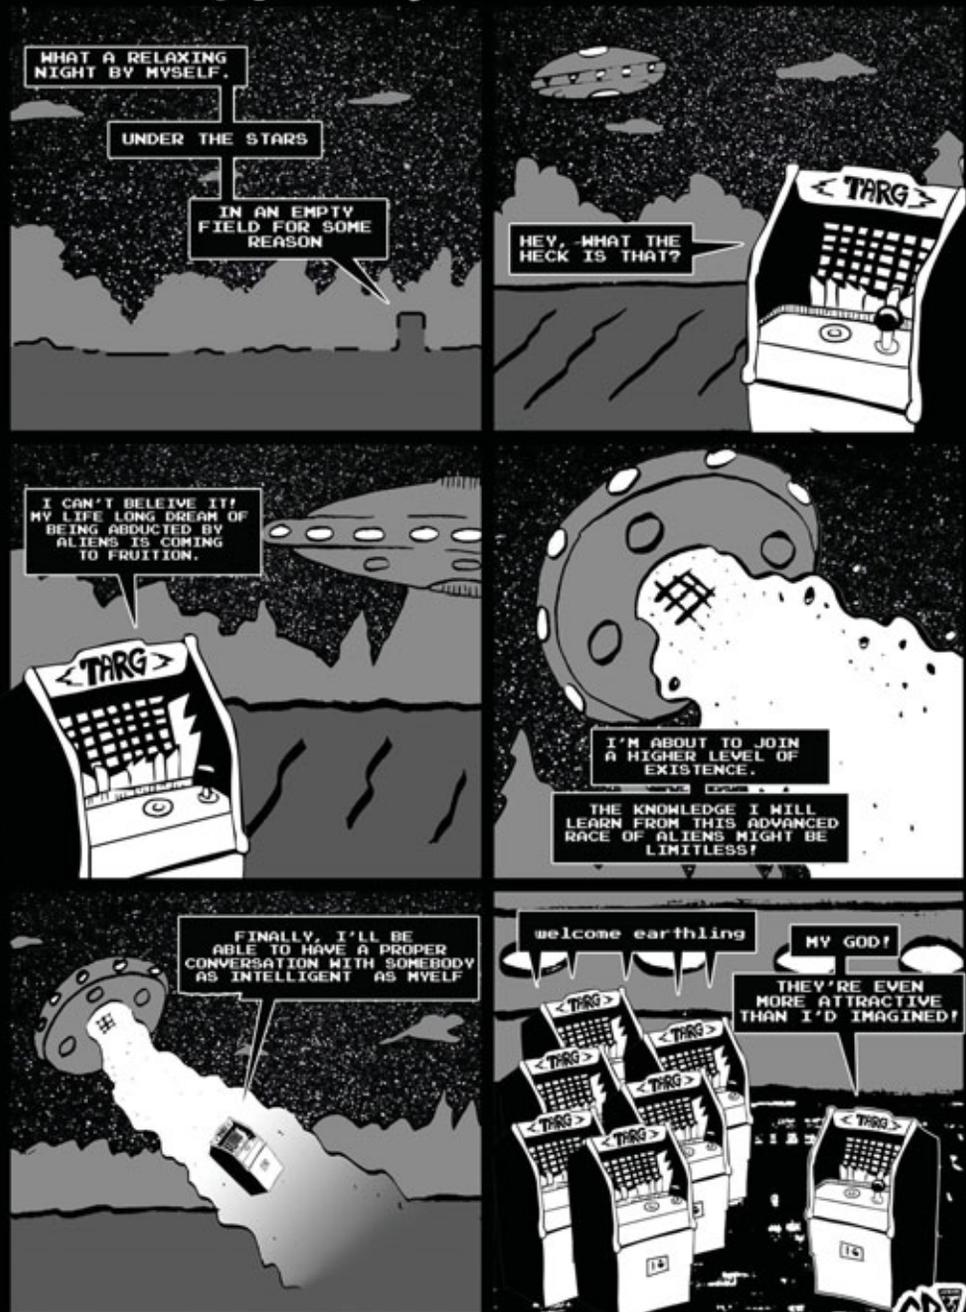

In Ladybug, the graphics are cute and artsy. You guide an actual spotted ladybug through the labyrinth, gathering up X's, letters, and avoiding poisonous food and pursuing insects. The key here is that the maze in Ladybug contains revolving doors so that the player, once he goes through, is in a different part of the labyrinth. The revolving doors are also there to confuse the enemy. You

What's Spinnin' At Meow! That's Hot?

Claw-some Canadian wax from the not so distant past reviewed by Larry

TOKYO SEX WHALE SELF-TITLED DEBUT

Last Drag Records

Recorded & Mixed at Yogi's Meat Locker
Mastered at Bova Sound

In honour of TARG's big fifth anniversary, I thought we would stay very close to home this month and take a listen to the debut album by TOKYO SEX WHALE, featuring TARG's favourite wizard YOGI on guitars and backup vocals, JULIA LOAN on bass and lead vocals, and JP SADEK holding it all together on the drums.

From the second you see the artwork by Ottawa legend DAVE AARDVARK, you know you are in for a real trip with this record. The instrumental opening track, The Whale sets the tone for what is a stoner rock favourite at MEOW! THAT'S HOT, and the album continues in the same vein with unison accents and hits, acrobatic stops and starts, and changes in overall feel from steady chug to short repeating guitar themes, frantic rock to quiet interlude, all propelled by Sadek's steady beat (I think this band is when I started really noticing JP's playing, check out his doom rock outfit LOVIATAR).

The vocals are heavily affected, but it works perfectly with the tight mix of the album, and range from quiet, simple melodic lines from Julia to full on scream-alongs with the whole trio kicking in. The playing from all three is stellar, and for my money this is one of the best power trios ever out of Ottawa. I hear echoes of BLACK SABBATH, QUEENS OF THE STONE AGE, PJ HARVEY, and maybe even a little RUSH in the music, although these guys are true originals.

They released a second full length, with Canrock royalty producer IAN BLURTON, titled "Slammed", on Bandcamp in 2010 and sadly disbanded in 2011. There was a recent reunion show in January 2017 for Yogi's birthday party right here at TARG in January 2017, so we can all hold out hope for more appearances in the future.

This record shouldn't be crazy hard to find around town, and if you see one you should grab hold of it and own a piece of Ottawa rock history. If you can't wait and want a listen, stop by MTH and we will gladly listen to it all night long.

Larry is one of the owners of Meow! That's Hot Kitchen + Bar at 519 Bank St., where they feature local products and spin Canadian vinyl all day, every day. He also performs bass duties with local hardcore heroes Slim and Popular, and rockers Thunderuncle.

Her work in the scene over the last 3 years has become more prominent. In fact, it's spilled into other creative aspects of her life. She designs posters for all kinds of events, sometimes even hand drawn. She has booked several shows for young, up n' coming bands, which essentially has been a staple in keeping the younger music scene alive in Ottawa. She also helps run bigger scale events like The Ottawa Vegan Market and the annual Punk Ottawa Flea Market!

Thank you for agreeing to be interviewed.

WHAT JOBS AND EXPERIENCES HAVE LED TO YOUR PRESENT POSITION(S)?

For me personally, I feel like the influences from my family have really pushed me toward the job I have today. My Mom was always involved in punk/alternative/whatever you wanna call it culture so I was exposed to a lot of alternative music growing up, and when I was a bit older my Mom would take me to pretty much any show I could find (everything from a small all ages show in Deckuf to playlist live, a convention for meeting youtubers.

Those conventions gave me some of my fondest but also weirdest memories)

WHAT DOES A TYPICAL WORK DAY ENTAIL FOR YOU?

Never-ending to-do lists! Just kidding (kind of). I work on a lot of stuff involving social media, be that graphic design, drafting posts, creating events etc. As well, I usually have some kind of project going on that I'm working on (right now it's our next flea market set for April 6!) along with some of the standard clerical stuff, filing, printing stuff, following up with people.

TELL US ABOUT A PROJECT OR ACCOMPLISHMENT THAT YOU CONSIDER TO BE SIGNIFICANT IN YOUR CAREER.

This might be a pretty corny answer, but putting on a record release show for my pals (shoutout to Castlefield)! I had known them since the start of the band and watching them grow and develop over time to the point where they were putting out an EP on vinyl through a label was super special, and being able to book and run their release show was something I was super stoked to do, and will always look back on as an awesome memory of feeling like I was really making progress in my career. As a bonus answer, watching The Wonder Years played a sold-out show we put on. That really gave me the inspiration and drive to get through some tough stuff that at the time I didn't know I'd be dealing with in the coming months.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE MOST ABOUT WORKING IN YOUR INDUSTRY?

Being involved in all the things that I used to dream about growing up. It may have made me a little jaded, but I still find joy in the little things at work whenever I can.

HOW DO YOU BEST SEEK OUT OPPORTUNITIES FOR NEW PROJECTS?

The most important thing is to be flexible and ready to adapt. I've had some amazing opportunities and gained great connections through not only being in the right place at the right time, but being helpful and adapting to do whatever was needed at the time. Furthermore, being involved with your community (be it online or offline, music or visual arts etc.) has always presented some awesome opportunities for new projects and collaborations.

HOW DO YOU KEEP UP WITH THE LATEST NEWS IN YOUR LINE OF WORK?

In terms of the going ons of bands and the scene and such, honestly places like Pitchfork, Alt Press, Noisy and so on. More gossip-y type info or "breaking news" I usually hear about on Twitter, or through one of my more social media savvy friends..

WHAT WOULD YOU TELL SOMEONE ABOUT TO START A CAREER IN YOUR FIELD?

Nothing will ever go as planned, for better or worse. I have really intense anxiety and that results in me being super high strung sometimes, and I have a habit of freaking out or panicking and blaming myself when things aren't going right, but I've had to learn that things will never go according to plan, and it's sort of the nature of the business. All you can do is be prepared and do your best. As well, leaning on those around you is critical, be it friends, significant others or family. My Mom and Andrew are two people who keep me sane and grounded when it seems like life is out of control.

A TRULY DIFFERENT ADVENTURE TO TAKE YOU OUT OF THIS WORLD!

NUDE ON THE MOON - A CLASSIC
OTTAWA PREMIERE THE WEEK OF APRIL 12TH!

*An American Film Genre
Archive restoration, fresh off its premiere at New York City's Museum of Modern Art!*

Formed about ten years ago, AGFA is a non-profit located in Austin, Texas, run by the pinnacle of behind-the-scenes cinematic geek heroes. AGFA exists for the noble cause of preserving the legacy of the rarest and most bizarre of movies through collection, conservation, and distribution. They have promised to never rest until their rescued stable of forgotten movie gems rule the world.

We've screened a number of selections from our AGFA friends over the years, ranging from: the sex and violence extravaganza Hard Ticket to Hawaii, the cornerstone cult horror masterpiece Phantasm, the Disney-esque gone wrong insanity of Roar, or the awesome Stray Cat Rock series of Japanese biker-girl movies.

Nude on the Moon is a nearly 50 year old, rarely seen piece of cinema trash treasure representing a perfectly weird bit of American pop culture history. The second feature from exploitation legend Doris Wishman is less an actual comprehensible movie, and something more along the lines of a catalog of bonkers kitsch hallucinations. The movie has been hailed as being enjoyably stupid to the point of breathtaking. Plus, it is also one of the most marvellous examples the long-extinct from movie theatres 'nudie-cutie' genre.

The plot - A chiseled crew-cut hunk named Jeff logically uses a $3 million inheritance to venture into outer space! Along with his pal, The Professor, they blast-off in a rocketship (which is quite obviously a little toy model), and land on the moon in another rocketship (for some reason, a completely different little toy model). Costumed in red and green pajama style uniforms that make them look like low-rent comic book superheroes, the pair exit the ship to discover a scientifically accurate Miami-like tropical paradise.

Fret not, as promised in the title of the film, they do indeed discover a moon people nudist camp. Another example of one of the inexplicable oddities is when our adventurers don't seem to notice that the Queen of the Moon is a dead ringer for Jeff's secretary back home on Earth. With quality cinematic make-up design no better than a kids self-made Halloween costume, the residents of the moon can be identified as aliens thanks to pipe-cleaner antennas on their heads.

*Don't miss the latest long lost treasure unearthed by the AGFA cinema archaeologists to grace our screen - Nude on the Moon makes its decades overdue Ottawa Premiere the week of April 12th!*

DEAR SLO' TOM: My new girlfriend is awesome: she's funny and smart and pretty and seems to really like me! Great, huh? So what the problem? Well, last weekend was the first time we started to get "intimate". When I saw her 'tramp stamp' (one of those tattoos that girls sometimes get on their lower back) I freaked out. Don't get me wrong... I like tattoos, and I was ready for a butterfly or some roses... but it was the Misfits 'Fiend' logo! You know, that skull face guy? He was looking right up at me! I freaked out and before I knew it I was thinking about Danzig and butterball turkeys and... well, let's just say I lost my concentration (if you know what I mean). What should I do, Slo'? I really like this girl, but who gets a tattoo like that in a place like that? Please help – signed, LAST CARESS

HEY LASTCARESS: Boy, this is a tough one. I can certainly understand how such an unexpected sight could be somewhat "off-putting" at a crucial moment. However, since you like this girl you really only have two options - you can either get used to it, or avoid seeing it. Perhaps asking her about it might make you more comfortable. There's gotta be a good story about how she ended up with that tattoo. Best of luck, LAST CARESS HEYA SLO': It's me! Your #1 fan, Chipnut! You're one tough amigo to get a hold of! I left a million messages with your mom but I guess you didn't get them. I saw you down on Rideau St. one time but you were running pretty fast and I couldn't catch up. Anyway, I wanted to ask you about the mascots on my favourite brands of chips. My favourite is Chester the Cheetah (he's dangerously cool!). I really like Humpty Dumpty and the three Hostess "Munchies". But what's with Old Dutch? A windmill??? What's a windmill got to do with delicious, crunchy potato chips? As much as I love a fresh bag of Old Dutch Thick Cut, that windmill bugs me! What do you think, Tom? Signed - Your #1 fan, Chipnut!

DEAR CHIPNUT: Stop stalking me. I mean it. Don't call my mother's house anymore (I haven't lived there in, like, six months!). And yes, I saw you that day on Rideau St.... That's WHY I was running!!!! Goodbye, Chipnut.

HEY SLO' TOM: This is my first visit to Canada. Before my visit, I didn't know very much about Canada except that I knew Quebec was trying to separate, and that there were clashes between the French and English. I was expecting to see Canadian soldiers in the streets and Quebec anarchists rioting on Parliament Hill! You can imagine my surprise (and relief!) when I heard your politicians civilly debating in both languages and there was nary a mailbox bomb in sight! During my visit to House of TARG I heard people speaking French, people speaking English, everyone getting along, and not a single fist fight! What's going on? What happened to Quebec hating English Canada, and English Canada hating Quebec? Please explain. Thanks – PUZZLEDfromPotsdam

DEAR PUZZLEDFROMPOTSDAM: Here at House of TARG we spend all our time and energy LOVING! We love perogies, pinball and punk rock... we have no time for hatred! But make no mistake: outside House of Targ the French / English divide is still very much alive. However, over the years our hatred has mellowed a bit and now we just sort of tolerate one another. The root of the problem is that English Canada envies Quebec's laid back "joi de vivre" attitude about... well, about pretty much everything! While English Canadians fret about constitutional amendments and mortgage rates, Quebecers are opening another bottle of Beaujolais and getting ready to go rollerblading. It drives the English crazy! While the rest of Canada is freaking out about the oil sands or wondering what the hell SNC Lavalin is, Quebecers just roll their eyes and mutter "c'est la vie". Meanwhile Quebecers think the "blockheads" (that's what they call the English) are a bunch of prudish, culturally deprived British wannabes who spend so much time worrying about property taxes that they never get laid. And they are right.

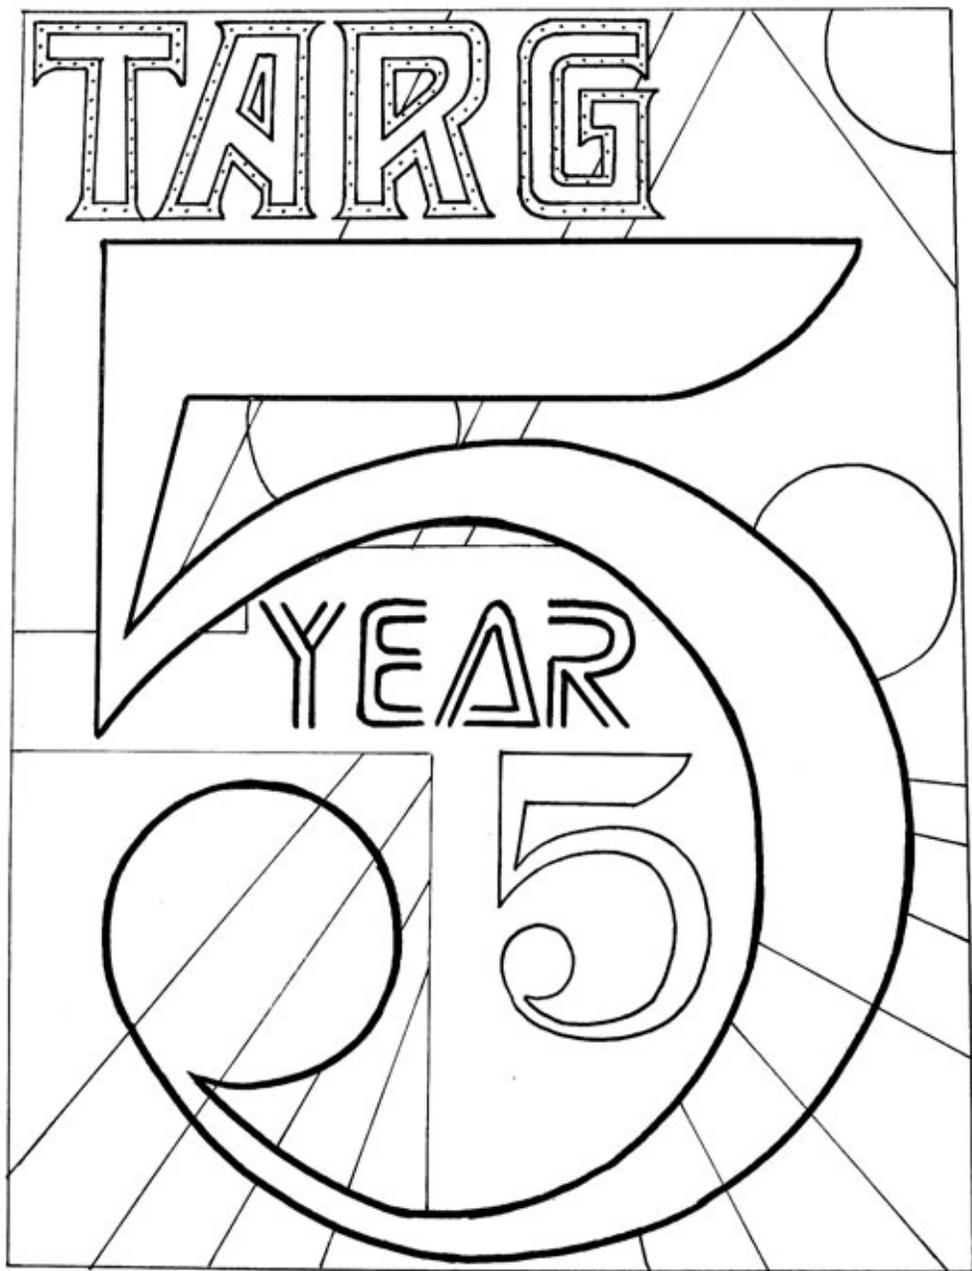

Herein lies the secret to the true strength of Canada! The English NEED the French to remind them to live a little. The French NEED the rest of Canada to remind them that it's a good idea to cut some firewood before winter comes. It's a match made in heaven! I hope this explains 500 years of Canadian history, PUZZLEDfromPotsdam .
